

Your first page

One person, place or occasion; a photo copy if you have one; a few true words. Example wording here is fictional.

Step 1. Choose your page

After Make a page, the builder shows three steps. A page is already chosen for you, so you can go straight on. To change it, pick one of the six starting pages, or open See all 24 page styles.

Then choose Next: add photos and words at the bottom of the step.

Step 2. Add photos and words

Photo 1: left

 FICTIONAL_portrait_garden.jpg

1

Caption for this photo (optional)

Photo code (optional, such as C001)

- 1 Choose photo copy picks a copy or scan from your computer; once a photo is in, the button reads Replace photo copy. Your original is never changed. Add a caption below it if you like.

1

2

- 1 No digital photo? Choose I do not have a digital photo. The frames stay empty for paper copies.
- 2 Or choose Make a words-only page.

Who is in the photos? (optional)

Names and how they are related to you. Mark guesses so they stay guesses. Example: Elena Carter, my grandmother (confirmed); a cousin (possibly Ruth)

- 1 Elena Carter, my grandmother (confirmed)
- 2 Add "confirmed" Add "possibly" Add "unknown"

- 1 Type the names you know.
- 2 Mark each name confirmed, possibly or unknown, so a guess stays a guess.

Add a date or a guess (about 1958 is fine), where it happened, and a few words in The story, in your own words. How sure are you about names and dates? is printed on the page.

Or tap the page itself

- 1 Story
- 2
- 3 Done

Changes show on the page as you type. Choose Done when you are finished.

The story, in your own words

Example: Nana grew tomatoes along this fence and gave them to every neighbour.

Every summer Elena grew tomatoes along the white fence and gave the first ripe ones to the neighbours.

Who is in the photos? (optional)

Names and how they are related to you. Mark guesses so they stay guesses. Example: Elena Carter, my grandmother (confirmed); a cousin (possibly Ruth)

Elena Carter, my grandmother (confirmed)

Your page Style S01: One Face, One Story

Your family history

Elena's tomato garden

Elena Carter, my grandmother (confirmed) - about 1958

Story

Elena Carter, my grandmother (confirmed)

Every summer Elena grew tomatoes along the white fence and gave the first ripe ones to the neighbours.

Status: Family recollection

Elena in the garden, about 1958

When and where

about 1958

- 1 Tap or click any part of the page; its own editor opens beside it.
- 2 The part you are changing is outlined and changes as you type.
- 3 Done closes it. Undo changes to this section puts back what was there.

Step 3. Save and print

Keep it to change later
Save my page makes one file you keep. Open it again here with Open a saved page.

1 Save my page

Print it or make a PDF
For reading, printing and sharing. A PDF cannot be opened again for editing.

2 Print or save PDF

- 1 Save my page makes one file you keep and can open again.
- 2 Print or save PDF makes a copy for reading and printing.

1

Save requested: Elenas-tomato-garden-2026-10-21.hps.json

Your browser should have put this file in your Downloads folder. The page cannot see your disk, so please check.

2 Yes, I found the file I cannot find it

- 1 After saving, the builder tells you the file name. Look in your Downloads folder.
- 2 When you can see the file there, choose Yes, I found the file. Copy it to a folder you will remember.

- 1 Keep the notes sheet: it holds every word, even text that did not fit on the page.
- 2 Ink saving prints white backgrounds.
- 3 Open the print window. To make a PDF, choose "Save as PDF" as the printer. Keep the scale at 100%.

Coming back another day

Open the builder and choose Open a saved page. Pick the file you saved. Your words, photo copies and page return as you left them.